By contrast, hand-building projects give students a chance to create sculptures, jewelry boxes, and other forms that cannot be made on the wheel. While both sessions will allow campers opportunities to explore a variety of forms, the sessions' firing techniques and products will be different. All clay, tools, glaze and other decorative materials are included in the cost of the camp.

Challenge Course

A rope course is a challenging outdoor experience that encompasses personal development and team building through a series of activities on a high and low rope course. Low ropes will take place on the ground or only a few feet about off the ground. High ropes will take places off the ground in heights of tree levels or as high as telephone polls.

Through group initiative projects and personal investigation, students will explore and practice such concepts as responsible risk-taking, finding meaning in failure, deep listening, and effective cooperation. Students will be invited to "venture" out of their comfort zone in a variety of contexts, explore their boundaries, and develop a deeper sense of self-knowledge and self-awareness. ## Jewelry Making

12-15 years $420

Students will have the opportunity to create silver rings, ear rings and necklaces. This class will cover all the elements of basic jewelry making. Students will learn the “lost” art of wax casting: a method developed in Ancient Egypt. The lost wax casting process involves creating a wax model which is then suspended in a metal flask. A plaster-like material called investment is poured over the model. The invested flask is then placed in a kiln, and the wax model is slowly melted out until only the negative cavity, the exact shape of the original, remains. Molten metal (silver) is then vacuumed into this negative space and allowed to cool and solidify. The metal piece is removed from the plaster. Sprues (the bump at the opening where the molten metal was poured into the mold) are cut and ground. Various polishing media are used to bring the piece to its final polished state. Students will also be introduced to advanced techniques such as stone setting (Bezel and Gypsy) and enameling (enameling is the process of fusing powdered glass to metal).
